

Blue Heart

Oh, how my blue heart aches,
After years of nothing but breaks
From people I knew
Who promised they'd do
Whatever it takes.

But I kept Moving on,
Thinking no one could wrong
The thing that held all my dreams,
Yet nothing was as it seems.

But soon it meant nothing at all,
Those words that would make me fall
For the people who swore
They would stay evermore,
Through it all.

Yet countless times, I was broken,
The same hollow promises spoken.
Is it any wonder I withdrew?
you'd grow indifferent too,
When so many would say, "I love you."

And you'd believe it's true
Because you never know who Could tell such a lie.
Oh, how my blue heart aches.

Revision #1

Created 2025-11-26 06:36:42 UTC by Admin

Updated 2025-11-26 06:36:42 UTC by Admin