

Shoe

Uphill lives a man named Mondoo,
I've known him since we were two.
Though we no longer speak
Because just last week
He grew mad when I stole his left shoe.

But soon I heard naught but a squeak,
And our friendship began to look bleak.
So I looked for his crew,
To pay what was due,
And he waved as he bade me adieu.
